Half-price taxi rides for senior citizens?

Antioch senior citizens may soon get the "fare break" for which they have been waiting.

Village officials are working on a system whereby revenue sharing funds would pay half the cost of taxi rides within the village for those 65 or older and the handicapped.

ALL SIX TRUSTEES expressed support for such a program at Monday night's finance and civic activities committee meetings. A public hearing is required for the proposed uses of the federal funds; the date will probably be set at next Monday's village board meeting.

The project, as it now stands, would entitle each eligible person to 16 half-fare tickets per month.

VILLAGE CLERK Marilyn Sterbenz said, "If all goes well with the legal and paper work, I would anticipate this would be in effect May 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year."

She encourages all those eligible to sign up at the village hall, 874 Main St., commenting that this would provide valuable input for the public hearing.

ACCORDING TO a transportation survey conducted last year by the Lake County Council for Seniors (based on 1970 population statistics), approximately 806 Antioch village residents are 55 years or older. Village officials estimate the number of individuals 65 or older at 400.

Sign ordinance changes to be aired Thursday

By BETSY ROSSEN

At 7 p.m. Thursday, the Antioch zoning board of appeals will conduct a public hearing on proposed changes to the village sign ordinance. Trustees will vote on that group's recommendations at next Monday's village board meeting.

FIVE CHANGES are proposed, prominent of which is the frontage required for a free-standing sign. The present ordinance requires 300 feet; the amendment calls for 150 feet.

Other changes are: re-definition of sign area, simplification of permit fee to $25 per sign, deletion of brand name restriction and prohibition of roof signs that are also part of flat fascia signs.

Village officials hope to finalize amendments before a final vote is required next Monday on the McDonald's restaurant petition for a variance to the present ordinance. Owners of McDonald's want a 24-foot free-standing sign on their Orchard St. lot, which has 189 feet of frontage.

CLC plans new library

The new Learning Resource Center (library) for the College of Lake County may be ready to be bid by September, according to Don Murray, director of campus development.

According to Dr. Richard Erzen, college president, the schedule depends on the release of funds by Gov. James Thompson.

Murray also reported that the building automation system, which will monitor energy use in the main building, should be operational by early March. Installation of the $160 thousand system, which is expected to pay for itself in energy savings over the next five years, began several months ago.

Burglary at Texaco station

Someone broke into the Texaco service station in the Orchard Plaza shopping center last Friday night.

The station's new owner, George Braddock of Lake Villa, told police that a window was broken to gain entry.

Braddock said a stereo radio and two speakers, valued at $92, were missing.

Antioch prepares to honor VIPs

By BETTY HOPE

Saturday, Mar. 19, will be a very special day for the children of Hank and Ricky Apostal.

That is when their parents will be honored as Antioch's VIPs for 1977 at the ninth annual VIP Dinner-Dance sponsored by St. Peter's parish.

Hank and Ricky have always been "very important people" in the children's eyes, but it brings them great happiness to know that the people of Antioch think so too.

HANK AND RICKY were both born in December, Hank in 1930 and Ricky in 1931. Their lives took different paths until they were introduced by mutual friends in high school.

Hank was born and raised in Oak Park. His father had come here from Greece and his mother from Germany. His father worked at Colosimo's, a famous restaurant of that era, and he eventually owned several different businesses, including the Blue Room Restaurant, Candyfield Candies, and the Arlington Theatre.

Hank's mother was a professional seamstress

A booklet to help older Americans avoid paying too much federal income tax is now available from Rep. Robert McClory (R-13th Dist.). The booklet, prepared by the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, outlines new de-

Candidate for mayor outlines his platform

Henry J. Gillman Jr., one of the four candidates for mayor of Antioch, has a four-point platform. Mr. Gillman, interviewed by the Antioch News, said he is ...
... for better police protection.
... for senior citizens.
... for the younger generation.
... and for the people of Antioch.

HENRY J. GILLMAN JR.

THE VILLAGE ELECTION is Tuesday, Apr. 19. Gillman has three opponents: Michael J. Haley, Raymond P. Toft and J. Irving Walsh. Haley and Walsh currently are village trustees. Toft was mayor from 1965 until 1973.

Regarding the first plank of his platform, Gillman said he feels the businessmen and people of Antioch "are entitled to better police protection."

DISCUSSING SENIOR CITIZENS and teenagers, he said he felt "the $17,000 spent on a sidewalk on North Ave. was a waste of taxpayers' money."

"Half should have been spent for transportation for senior citizens to places like the Marriott amusement park, ball games, zoos and so forth. The other half should have been spent to build a recreation center for teenagers," Gillman said.

The candidate also said he feels that small fire department and rescue squad facilities should be built on the east side of the Soo Line railroad tracks, in addition to the present facilities near the village hall.

Gillman said this would be a great help in the event of an emergency on the east side and the possibility of firemen or rescue squad members being held up by a train.

GILLMAN SAID HE also would like to see a mini-bus service that would help senior citizens get to the central business district for shopping.

Gillman and his wife, Dorothy, live at 449 Edgewood Drive in Oakwood Knolls. They have seven children. The candidate for mayor has lived in Antioch for six years and is making his first try for public office. He came here from Round Lake.

He said that, because he is a disabled veteran on social security and has a permanent spine disability which makes it unable for him to work, he would have more time than the other candidates to spend in the mayor's office.

Gillman said, if elected, he would keep regular hours in the mayor's office "for the public to come to me with their major or minor problems ... and we would solve these problems immediately."

Names in the News

DR. JOHN LORANG of the Orchard Medical Center, Antioch, has been named a diplomat of the American Academy of Family Practice.

Recently he was elected president of the medical staff at Waukegan's Victory Memorial Hospital.

KAT POSKOZIM of Rt. 1, Antioch, was in the cast of a spring show given by the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Young Illini last Saturday.

"Lennon and McCartney, a Magical Mystery Tour" was the theme for the show, sponsored by Illini Union Student Activities.

Illinois State University's internship program in television is batting one thousand in a tough league. All 10 interns placed at selected commercial television stations since the program began a year ago have earned jobs in commercial TV news.

Among them is Kirk Dalgard of Antioch, who interned and is now employed at WRAU-TV, Peoria.

Checkers

All 64 squares on the board are used in playing Turkish checkers; while in Spanish checkers, all pieces move backward as well as forward.

The Town Crier

Famous advice to entertainers is, "always leave them laughing."

So it's time to present our February award to a real hero the athletic world - a young man who kept sports from becoming dull and tedious during a dull and tedious month.

David Anderson, Tennessee basketball player, observed that the score was 66-65 so he dribbled away the last 10 seconds to keep Georgia Tech from getting the ball.

Clever player, that Anderson, except that it was his team that was behind 66-65.

SOME FRIENDS OF OURS have just discovered that a little girl becomes a young lady gradually, between the ages of 11 and 14, and suddenly has the transition all together by the time she is a freshman in high school.

For example, there is a very sparkling and ladylike 14 year old named Mary Pat, who just a few years ago was one of daddy's little girls.

Dancing across the room Sunday, she said, "Mom, do you know who I kind of like?"

Her mother looked up, with an understanding and patient smile, and asked:

"No, dear. Who is it this week?"

FATHER ANSWERING the phone: "I'm sorry, this isn't Dreamboat ... this is the supply ship."

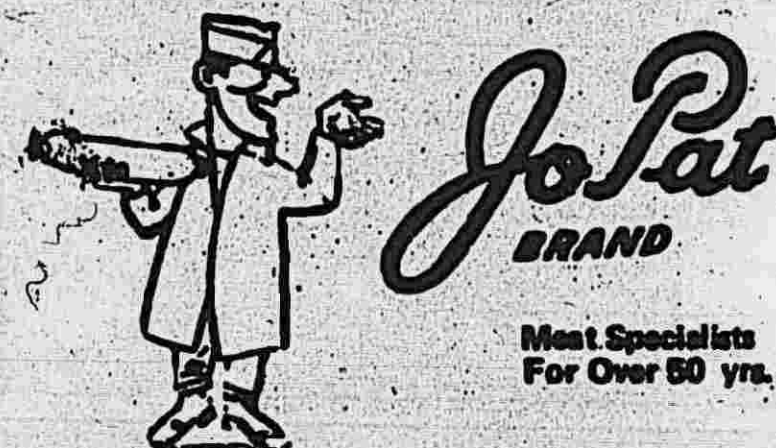

MOTHER TO HER sick youngster: "Well, son, how do you like your new nurse?"

Son: "I hate her. I'd like to grab her and bite her on her neck, like Daddy does."

IT'S ALMOST LITTLE LEAGUE SEASON, so we hope Antioch's young baseball players are getting ready by eating lots of Italian food.

We suggest they follow the advice of Casey Stengel, the great New York manager, who said: "We've had some wonderful Italian baseball players. There were Tony Lazzeri, Frank Crosetti, the DiMaggios. And fellows like Yogi Berra and Rocky Colavito. Do you know why the Italians make good players? It's because they have good wrists. And why do they have good wrists? Because they eat lots of spaghetti. Rolling that spaghetti up a fork on a spoon strengthens the wrists and you have to have good wrists to be a good hitter."

A boy is a person who won't let the neighbors throw away good junk.

4 terms expiring

Four of the seven seats on the Antioch Grade School Board, District 34, will be up for grabs in the Saturday, Apr. 9, election.

They are the three-year terms of board president Gail Heath and members Ray Atwood and Jim Miles. Also expiring is the one year remaining on the term of LaVerne M. Woods. Mr. Woods left the board last year and was replaced by Sharon Krom of Lindenhurst.

So far, Mrs. Heath is the only incumbent who has taken out petitions to file for reelection. She will be seeking another three-year term.

The deadline for filing is Friday, Mar. 18.

Others who have taken out petitions are Bruce Jablonski, Garnet Cook, Robert Olson and former board member Robert E. Kelley.

MRS. HEATH SAID TUESDAY that the board is now laying the groundwork for a referendum to build a new grade school. A group of about 30 persons met last week with members of the Illinois School Consulting Service. The referendum probably would be held this spring.

State school officials have expressed concern that 372 of Antioch's grade school students are "inadequately housed." They are referring to the 182 students at the old Channel Lake school and the students who are in the six portable buildings at Oakland school.

The state refuses to put any money into remodeling at Channel Lake. However the state Capital Development Board will contribute from $500,000 to $700,000 in funds if the school board gets local backing in a referendum.

Mrs. Heath said the board would like to build a new lower grade school on land in the area of the Upper Grade School. It would house about 475 pupils.

Another meeting of the group planning the referendum will be held at the Upper Grade School at 7:30 p.m. next Monday.

REGARDING THE ELECTION on Apr. 9, the three board members who do not have to run for reelection are Milo Bailey, Sid Parker and Jimmie Quedenfeld. Their terms are not expiring this year.

How price of gas has risen in last 3 years

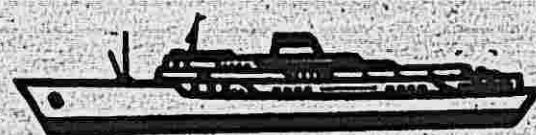

Since January of 1974, the average price for a gallon of regular gasoline has risen almost 14 cents in the Antioch area.

At the beginning of 1974, the average price of a gallon of regular was 50 cents; by the end of 1974 it was almost 56 cents; the price at the end of 1975 was more than 60 cents; and by the end of 1976, the average price for regular was almost 64 cents a gallon.

In other words, if it cost $8 to fill your tank three years ago, it now costs about $10.20.

Commentary

"Students today come to college better informed than those of any previous generation. They not only have seen history made, but they have made it themselves. They bear witness to floods and famines, elections and assassinations, riots and wars; hunger and poverty. In their world of childhood, they became as familiar with atomic energy, computers and the jet set as their parents were with baseball cards, bubble gum, and vacant lots. Growing up in today's environment is not the same as it was a generation ago, and it never again will be. These students have grown up faster and they have absorbed kinds of information that earlier generations never knew at any age."

Carter's puzzling moves

May be it will turn out to have been inexperience (after all, they've only been there six weeks) and maybe it will end up being McGovernism's finest hour, but so far the Carter Administration is making some puzzling moves in the area of foreign affairs.

First, Vice President Walter Mondale discovered the Berlin Wall. He allowed as how very few walls had been built to keep people in.

Then, Americans who held out hope that a Carter White House would be tough-minded about security matters got a jolt when Mondale announced in Tokyo that U.S. ground troops would definitely be pulled out of South Korea (on a timetable to be announced).

Japanese Foreign Minister Hatoyama said of the move, "If you look at history, it is a fact that war occurred once in Korea because of withdrawal of U.S. troops there. Hence, our anxieties."

NEXT, ANDREW YOUNG, the new Ambassador to the United Nations, moved to center stage with a lot of rhetorical strokes toward the Third World. He went on television's "Who's Who" and had this fascinating exchange with Dan Rather:

RATHER: Isn't an armed protracted guerrilla warfare (in Southern Africa) already assured - with the presence of the Cubans and the Soviet Union's influence in that part of the world?

YOUNG: No, it's not assured. In fact, there's a sense in which the Cubans will bring a certain stability and order - to Angola, for instance, and that the enemy - all over the world, I think, is chaos. When there's a nation with a military unit that's disciplined, it can be ordered in, it can be ordered out. I have no question in my mind but that we could negotiate very successfully withdrawal of Cuban troops from Southern Africa.

RATHER: If it was wrong for the United States to be in Vietnam, why isn't it wrong for the Cubans to be in Angola?

YOUNG: The Cubans were in Angola at the invitation of - the NPLA and -

RATHER: We were in Vietnam at the invitation of a series of governments - South Vietnam.

YOUNG: You got me there...

THEN CAME SECRETARY of State Cyrus Vance with his first news conference at which he announced resumption of Panama Canal treaty talks and the hope that a new treaty would be ready by June. Jimmy Carter's campaign words about not giving up actual control of the Canal echo only ever-so-faintly these days.

Vance did come out four-square for human rights and announced that the United States would speak up resolutely against violations of same. This seemed to be an effort to correct the confusion over President Carter's and the State Department's rhetorical minuet over the State's criticism of the Soviet government for its harassment of dissident scientist Andrei Sakharov. But Vance's statement about human rights was scarcely out of his mouth when we waffled.

The Carter Administration will reserve the right to speak out "from time to time" on the issue, he said. No news there. That's simply standard operating procedure for the liberal intellectual establishment already. Knock Chile and Argentina for their shortcomings, but take a deep breath and turn the other cheek at the Soviet Union's or Panama's.

Can the new Administration find happiness and a consistent foreign policy? Stay tuned.

'Selling' the Panama Canal

Jimmy Carter, who not so many weeks ago said he would "never" give up "practical control" of the Panama Canal, may now become the principal salesman in a nationwide campaign to do just that.

Treaty negotiations have resumed in Panama, with Ellsworth Bunker again representing the United States, but this time with a difference: Sol Linowitz, long a supporter of the giveaway idea (and once a registered agent for the Marxist Allende government of Chile) is at his side.

AMERICANS HAVE BEEN TELLING pollsters they don't favor turning the Canal over to Panamanian dictator Omar Torrijos, so the "Selling of the Giveaway" is going to have to be very persuasive if the Carter Administration is to succeed in turning public opinion around.

What will the scenario be? The Administration isn't saying, of course, but it could play out something like this:

As negotiations continue, the State Department will send spokesmen around the country to address World Affairs Councils and get as much publicity as possible. Their probable line will be that all Latin America will be up in arms if we don't conclude a treaty soon; that Torrijos will no longer be able to keep extremists from sabotaging the Canal; that the waterway is almost impossible to defend and that its commercial significance is declining, anyhow.

No matter that each of these arguments is thin. The State Department spokesman will give them again and again, keeping in mind that old advertising maxim, "repetition makes reputation."

LEFT TO ITS OWN devices, however, the State Department would consider this speakers' bureau effort the beginning and end of a "marketing" program. But, the White House may have much bigger plans.

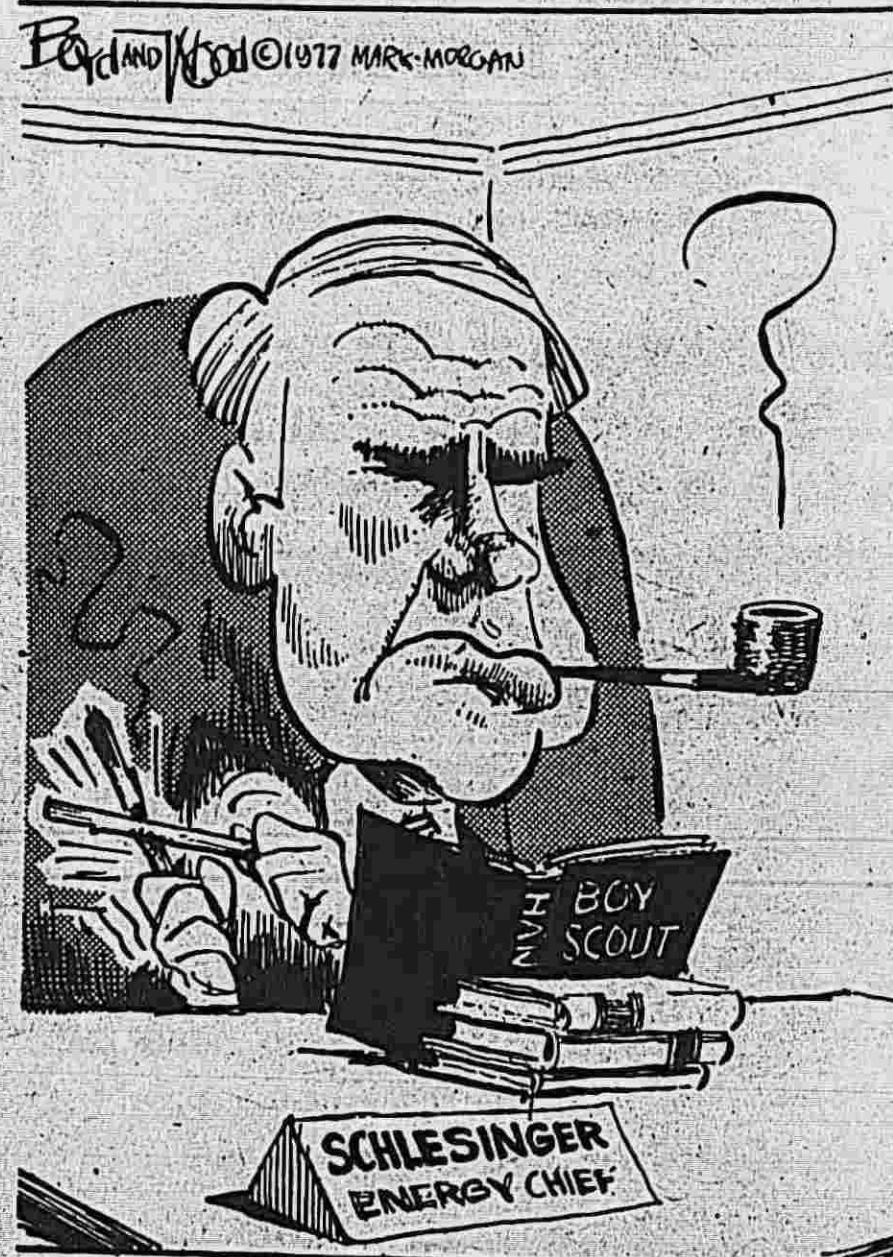

Look for cabinet members to begin speaking favorably of the need for concluding a treaty (i.e., turning the Canal over to Torrijos) and, minimizing the importance of the Canal to U.S. security and commerce.

Don't look for Pentagon opposition, despite the silent worries of a number of its leaders. The Defense Department has long since run up the white flag, having lost the battle to Henry Kissinger last year.

The State Department and White House are going to make sure it keeps its place, too. In fact, the President's new national security adviser for Latin American affairs is a Linowitz protege, Robert Pastor.

FOR THE CLIMAX of the sales program, look for Mr. Carter to slip into his cardigan, settle into a comfortable chair by the fire, look us in the eye and tell us that everything is going to be just fine if only we'll trust him and support his new treaty.

Being a former naval officer, he may even tell us he has sailed through the Canal, that he knows its shortcomings, that it is not really so important to us after all, and that he wouldn't lie to us, now, would he?

Sign ordinance hearing Thursday presented to members of the village plan commission by professional planner Bruce Christensen.

Ten months later it was approved by the commission and presented to the village board at its Nov. 18, 1974, meeting.

VILLAGE TRUSTEES considered the ordinance for nearly two years, finally approving it 5-0 on Aug. 16, 1976.

"This thing has been going on for three years," said trustee Mike Haley on Aug. 16, 1976. "I move we amend the zoning ordinance regarding that section which relates to signs."

The village board at that time extended the deadline for conformance from three to five years. Bill Patterson, representing the Chamber of Commerce, expressed that organization's approval: "I think, after reviewing it, the Chamber will want you to pass it."

LAST FALL the final word arrived that the McDonald's corporation planned to open a restaurant in Antioch. Their traditional free-standing pole signs violated the sign ordinance; they then requested a variance.

On Nov. 17, plan commission chairman Ken Wierschem told the trustees, "I don't think the absence of their sign will hurt them one quarter-pounder with cheese or a large order of fries." He added that all six plan commission members shared his opinion.

IN THE MONTHS since then, the zoning board of appeals said "yes" to a 24-foot sign and "no" to a 50-footer.

On Jan. 19 trustees, meeting as the planning and zoning committee, voted 3-2 to grant a variance. Affirmative votes were cast by Ron Cunningham, Mike Haley and Arnie Weber; opposed were Bill Seemann and Irv Walsh. Newly appointed Judy Phillips did not vote, stating she already had voted as a plan commission member.

A SPECIAL COMMITTEE, composed of members of the village board, zoning board and plan commission, met Jan. 19 and Feb. 2 to review the ordinance. The committee was appointed by Mayor Robert Wilton at the Jan. 10 village board meeting.

Hats off to Antioch High School chemistry teacher Richard Elliston!

Over the past three years he has been waging a campaign against wasting food in school cafeterias. It seems that in order to meet requirements for state and federal reimbursement, cafeteria staff were required to serve all items prepared - whether or not the student wanted them.

WE RECEIVED an interesting letter recently; perhaps you can be of assistance.

Mildred Palmer Harman writes, "This may be a shot in the dark but I have been wondering for many years if anyone in your city would have any knowledge of a Charles E. Blunt who lived there in the early 1900s. He was my great uncle and I have wondered if there were any surviving relatives that might have information for a family tree."

If you can help, contact: Mrs. W.C. Harman, 2125 S. Dellrose, Wichita, Kansas 67218.

SOUNDS LIKE Esther Aiani and John and Anne Wenczlawski had a great trip to Florida. They even got to visit with Antioch folk like Frank and Carole Greelaume.

Rumor has it that the Antioch Fire Dept.'s ladies' night last Saturday was an enjoyable evening at Paty's Lounge. We have a terrific bunch of firefighters - they, in turn, wanted to express their appreciation for their gals' encouragement.

And speaking of gals, the mother-daughter banquet set for Friday, Mar. 18 at the Antioch Evangelical Free Church sounds like a delightful evening. Dinner starts at 6:30 p.m. (served by the men!), followed by speaker Debbie Dortzbach. She will be talking about her experiences as a nurse in Ethiopia.

SURE HOPE Mike Gutowski's 21st birthday yesterday was a happy one.

And guess who is Antioch's special birthday boy for today - none other than our own Jerry Pfarr. We know what he wants for his birthday: warm weather so he can wear his bermuda shorts!

HOW DO YOU SAY "Happy Birthday" in French? Lacking that knowledge, we'll say it in English: Happy Birthday to Jean-Marie Palu, the Rotary Club of Antioch's exchange student from France.

Jean-Marie celebrated his 19th birthday yesterday, Mar. 1. After spending his first few months in Atioch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis (Bud) Scichowski, Jean-Marie is now residing with Postmaster Jerry Ehrhart and his wife, Joyce, in Oakwood Knolls. Later, he will be the guest of other Rotarians as his year in Antioch continues.

H&R Block appoints Antioch manager

H&R BLOCK, the nation's largest income tax preparation firm, has announced the appointment of Mr. Donald A. Anderson of Round Lake to the post of manager in the Antioch H&R Block franchise.

Anderson and his wife, Carol, are currently the franchise holders in Round Lake also, and said they "look forward to the challenge of taking care of the income tax problems of the people in Antioch."

The Antioch H&R Block will be operating in its new facilities in the Sears store during regular store hours. The new phone number is 395-6230.

"The public is invited to stop by and see the new office and pick up a free taxsaver," Anderson said.

The Andersons were attracted to the field of income tax preparation after completing the firm's income tax school, which is held annually in more than 2,000 communities across the country.

With national headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., and more than 7,500 offices throughout the country, H&R Block last year prepared more than 9 million individual income tax returns in the United States and Canada.

In response to his appointment, Anderson said he feels that H&R Block "has a responsibility to the public to offer thorough, accurate and courteous tax preparation."

Gals are key figures at class reunion

By JERRY PFARR

Some friends of ours were all dressed up, ready to leave for the 20-year reunion of the husband's high school graduating class.

"Why are you carrying that baseball bat?" asked the wife.

"These will be the same girls I had to beat off with a club 20 years ago," said the husband.

"Ha, ha. Look, lover boy, that was 20 years, 50 pounds and a lot of hair ago. You'll be lucky if they recognize you."

THE FIRST PERSON they met as they entered the reunion hall was a well furred and coiffed woman of 37 who obviously had spent some time at a beauty parlor.

"Hi, Fred! Remember me?" "Uh, sure ... uh, well, the name is on the tip of my tongue ... er, uh ..."

"I'm Annabelle. You took me to the junior prom."

"Annabelle, of course. Say, you've hardly changed a bit. A few more pounds here and there ... and you're blonde now ... but, ha, ha, who's the same after 20 years ... ha ha."

Annabelle stomped away, obviously angry.

"Nice going, Fred," said his wife. "You're batting your usual zero."

"Boy, has she changed. She actually looks better than she did 20 years ago,"

ALTHOUGH MOST OF the men at the reunion were heavier and baldier than on graduation day, thanks to the miracles of modern makeup - and the marvelous ability of women to torture themselves with diets - most of them were still 29 going on 40.

In past decades, you could find women with graying hair at 20 year class reunions, but not today.

Grace, a plump, plain Jane in high school, showed up looking like a blond, Hollywood siren wearing a pink dress, ostrich plumes and her third husband.

The only woman who had noticeably gained a lot of weight was the 1957 Homecoming queen. But she won a prize for having the most children - 10.

A PRIZE WAS GIVEN for the man with the least amount of hair and it was a tie between two classmates who had patterned at least a small part of their lives after Yul Brynner. "I'd call it a scoreless tie," said Fred.

A prize also was awarded to the classmate who came the longest distance for the reunion and two old friends from California spent the night debating whether San Diego or Santa Barbara was the most distant point.

The biggest surprise of the evening came when one of the fellows listed in the program among "our dear, departed classmates" showed up for the party.

"It must have been another Bill Anderson," he said.

ON THE WAY HOME Fred's wife said smugly:

"Well, I met all those old girl friends you've been raving about for the last 20 years. You certainly had mediocre taste before you met me, didn't you?"

"The thing that bothers me," said Fred, "is the class prophecy. It said I would marry for money."

Four Squires' spring fashion show is Mar. 9

A spring fashion show, "Fashions in Bloom," will be presented at Four Squires clothing store in Antioch next Wednesday, Mar. 9, at 1:30 p.m.

The show will be part of the store's most recent innovation, the expansion of its women's department, with special emphasis on "Missy Fashions."

Complimentary tickets are available at the store and all women in the area are invited.

"THE SHOW WILL BE an exciting look at the coming season with fun surprises for the guests," said Jack Siegmeier, store manager. "This will be an excellent opportunity to meet the friendly, expert fashion consultants at Four Squires who are always available to serve their customers: Sandi Stewart, assistant store manager; Fran Colette, women's department manager; Polly Hay, Rick Siebert, Debbie Alexander, Tricia Schafer, Kim Schillinger and Mark Stewart.

Four Squires is an expanding retail company with six other stores in outlying suburban areas. The secret of their success is their unique approach to retail merchandising.

Two of their major corporate goals are to fulfill the needs of their customers and to benefit the communities they serve. They feel very optimistic about the future of the Lakes area and are glad to be a vital part of the Antioch community, Siegmeier said.

FOR MORE INFORMATION about the fashion show, persons can call Four Squires at 395-6880, or drop by the store where fashions are "in bloom year around."

Four Squires, 414 Lake St. in downtown Antioch, has been serving the Lakes area with fine fashions for men, boys and ladies since August, 1972.

The store prides itself on maintaining a progressive fashion image by continually updating to better serve its customers. They strive to offer today's fashions in an exciting shopping atmosphere.

Four Squires has been a fashion leader in the Lakes area, offering such fine women's lines as Act III, Koret, Country Set, Jantzen and Jack Winter in Missy sizes 6-16; not to mention a complete range of junior sizes and styles.

Antioch area shoppers have come to depend on Four Squires for quality fashions.

Dutch Flower Market at Hawthorn Center

Winter's still with us and there's no doubt our spirits need bolstering.

People need plants at this time of year and to put a little green in their lives, Hawthorn Center, the enclosed regional shopping mall in the village of Vernon Hills, just south of Libertyville, is holding its annual Flower Market on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The courtyards of Hawthorn Center will be bursting with spring flowers and plants. Shoppers will find all kinds of green house plants - from small ivy plants to ficus trees.

There will also be colorful blooming plants - tulips, azaleas, hyacinths, crocus, gardenia and African violets.

For those not ready to turn into "green thumbs" there will be a profusion of fresh cut flowers to choose from.

A focal point of the Dutch Flower Market will be an 18-foot windmill which rises dramatically in Hawthorn's center court. The whimsical windmill, in bright yellow and red, is decorated with flowers, perky animals, kites and figures of children in spring garb.

Hawthorn's "Dutch Girls" will answer questions for Flower Market shoppers on the selection of plants and their care.

Hours for the Flower Market are Friday, 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MEMBERSHIP IS open to all women 14 and over who would enjoy the fun and fellowship offered with four-part harmony.

Special musical training, while helpful, is not necessary for the barbershop style of singing, according to Joan Gardner, director of the Lake County Chorus. More important is the ability to maintain pitch and the desire to learn.

letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

As parents of band students, we are writing this letter to give recognition to two teachers in the Antioch Grade School system who have given above and beyond the normal school day without being paid extra for it.

On Saturday, Feb. 26, the 1977 Illinois Grade School Music Association, Northern Division, Solo & Ensemble contest was held at Harrison school in Wonder Lake.

Antioch Grade School band students, under the direction of Mr. Larry Wagner and Miss Sharon Higus, performed in large numbers and with great success. The children not only performed well but they also were ladies and gentlemen.

Both Mr. Wagner and Miss Higus put in many, many hours after school and in the evening, working with these students. This extra work paid off and the children made us all very proud of them. The children practiced many extra hours and our community should be very proud of them, and especially proud of our two band directors.

Citizens' Action Party discusses its parks and recreation platform

Members of the Citizens' Action Party (CAP), which is the only full slate ticket in the village of Antioch's Tuesday, Apr. 19, election, yesterday released its platform on the community's parks and recreation program.

The party includes Michael J. Haley for mayor, William H. Seemann, Ronald J. Cunningham, Donald H. Amundsen and Judy Phillips for village trustees, and Shirley Gutowski for village clerk. Their statement follows:

"The Citizens' Action Party platform is committed to parks and recreation for people of all ages in the village of Antioch.

"The Antioch park commission, under the leadership of Mayor Robert Wilton, and trustees Bill Seemann, Mike Haley and Ron Cunningham, has been unprecedented in its accomplishments toward the goals set forth by the Citizens' Action Party four years ago.

"Through the cooperation of many civic organizations and many private donations 'Doc

Jensen Park, a much-needed and well-used recreational facility has become a reality.

"The Citizens' Action Party believes that all elected officials owe the taxpayers the best possible facilities at the most economical cost. To this end they have negotiated and signed a co-usage agreement with both the high school and the grade school districts so that the people who pay the taxes can fully utilize all of the school facilities, under supervision, when school functions are not being held.

"Also, because of these agreements, Susan Koppa, the village park and recreation coordinator, has been able to utilize many school facilities in her vast array of programs.

"Golf lessons, swimming lessons, tennis lessons, arts and crafts, pre-school summer camp programs, volleyball, tumbling, adult athletic nights, and many other activities have become a reality at no extra cost to the taxpayer, because the Citizens Action Party is Concerned About People."

Celebrate World Day of Prayer here Friday

World Day of Prayer will be celebrated by Church Women United in Antioch at 8 p.m. this Friday, Mar. 4, at the United Methodist Church, 848 Main St.

Church Women United will join in this annual chain of prayer that links millions of people in 170 countries and islands. The day's message is "Love in Action."

WOMEN FROM many of the local churches will be participating in the program. Rev. Stephen Williams of the United Methodist Church will give the meditation. Special music will be offered by Paul Williams, with Arnold Weber accompanying at the organ.

A fellowship hour will follow the service, hosted by the United Methodist Women. All interested men and women in the area are invited to attend.

SINCE THIS YEAR commemorates 90 years of sharing in prayer across the globe, World Day of Prayer can be considered an important ecumenical and international observance of the year. This movement, through which Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women express their unity through prayer, fellowship, study and co-operative action, will be observed in 2,000 local communities in every state across the nation.

Preparation for the celebration is as internationally far-reaching as the participation in it. It is under the auspices of an international committee which has designated Church Women United as the official sponsor of this celebration in the United States.

The worship services are prepared each year by women from different parts of the world and then translated and adapted to meet the individual needs of each participating country. This year's worship service was prepared by women in the German Democratic Republic.

Change meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the village of Antioch plan commission has been changed to Thursday, Mar. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

4-H NEWS

The 4-H Clover Clovers heard a fire safety talk by Jim Quedenfeld, captain of the Antioch Fire Department, for their January meeting. A question and answer period followed.

Demonstrations were given by Steve Stowinski (woodworking and reading) and Karen Stowinski (reading). Karen Keisgan served refreshments.

The Clovers are collecting get-well cards for a nursing home project.

To improve nutrition

Even with present-day knowledge, malnutrition is a problem in Lake County. Because such problems exist, the Lake County Health Department is taking part in the Women, Infant and Children (WIC) Supplementary Food program to help improve the nutritional status of pregnant women and children under five years of age.

THE WIC program will provide, free of charge through home delivery, a food package containing milk, juice, eggs, cereal and infant formula on a weekly basis to eligible pregnant or nursing women and children up to their fifth birthday.

An individual may receive the WIC food package if they meet the financial and medical criteria. For example, the gross yearly income of a family of four may not exceed $9,848. Participation in this program should not affect any other assistance that a family may be receiving.

SEVERAL WIC clinics are scheduled for March in Waukegan and Round Lake.

Anyone interested in participating in one of the clinics, or who has questions about eligibility is urged to call 689-6781 as soon as possible. Openings are limited.

Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Soon after the publication of "Roots," favorable reviews began to appear in the usual places and I knew I'd have to buy a copy.

I speak of slavery with reluctance because it is a loathsome subject, and also because it is difficult if not impossible to handle the subject without giving offense.

ANOTHER CONSIDERATION is the fact that many of us would like to forget that slavery ever happened. We would like to forget that one in ten of the American people is a direct descendant of victims of monstrous iniquity, men and women—in many cases only boys and girls at the time—who came to this country in chains.

Yet perhaps we should not forget. Certainly author Alex Haley does not want to forget. He tells how he arranged passage from a West African port to New York on a Farrell Lines' ship, the "African Star." Every night he descended into the cargo hold and, stripped to his shorts, lay on a dunnage plank. In this way he attempted to recreate what cannot be recreated, the conditions under which his ancestor Kunta Kinte had made the middle passage to the United States.

But why should whites remember?

Slavery was not just a crime against blacks, though they were its principal victims; it was a crime against all humanity. Furthermore, black Africans were not only victims; they were also victimizers. Haley's book scarcely notices African participation in the trade; in nearly 600 pages no more than two or three paragraphs speak of it.

WE MAY NOT have learned the lessons the trade has to teach us. I see at least three: first, the enormous human potential for evil. The indifference of African chiefs and White slavers to the suffering of their victims is well-nigh incredible. Second, the organized world's potential for developing an economic system that depends upon exploitation of others. The question for us is, are we in these times part of an exploitive system?

The third lesson concerns the indifference and, much worse, involvement of Christians in the slave trade. The melodramatic convention of the slave-ship captain who reads the Bible in his cabin while human beings writhe in chains below-decks is not without historical basis. John Newton, who is remembered chiefly for devotional hymns such as "Amazing Grace," was in fact a slave ship captain. True, in later life he became a clergyman and, eventually, an abolitionist. Nevertheless, he spent nine years in the trade, much of that time as a professing Christian.

"ROOTS" MAY BE "middle-brow 'Mandingo'." Time's critic speculated, but it performs a mighty work if it reminds us as a people of our individual and collective capacities for evil.

May God help us to question every single assumption of our times, and to form our opinions and values under the influences of the Word of God.

What is flying in red, white and blue? American Airlines Priority Parcel Service.

This I do believe is the fastest, most convenient way to ship small parcels by air. Maximum weight, 50 pounds, maximum size, 90 inches, combined total of height, length, and width - no dimension greater than 48 inches. Provides ticket counter to destination service within hours.

Airport to airport rates vary from $26.75 to $35 depending on destination (including 5 percent federal tax).

Or, if you prefer door-to-door service, we can also have the airlines arrange for a messenger to pick up the parcel at home or office and see that the parcel goes out on the next flight to the destination address.

American's new nationwide Priority Parcel phone number is 800-424-9835. For more information and further details, give a call.

This is a great help out in our country area on emergency movement of items, not only in business but also personal.

ANSWER

The U.S. Supreme Court has said that under federal law an eavesdropper who with the consent of one of the parties to a telephone conversation listens in on a regularly used telephone extension, may testify in a federal court as to what was overheard. The admissibility of such evidence in an Illinois court under the Illinois eavesdropping statute as yet has not been decided. However, the Illinois courts have said that if the telephone were held by one of the parties to the conversation so that the eavesdropper could hear what was said, the overheard conversation would be admissible.

THIS WAS THE SCENE in the University of Illinois assembly hall last weekend as the state's outstanding high school wrestlers staged duels on several mats as they

Antioch's Gibson is 4th in state

A sophomore wrestler from Antioch, Marvin Gibson, put together "a fine state tournament" last weekend as he placed fourth in the 112-pound class in the Illinois championships at Champaign. The comment came from his proud coach, Ted DeRousse, as Gibson won four matches and lost only two in competition with the best high school gladiators in Illinois.

"The 112-pound class was rated the toughest in the state," DeRousse said. The top five place-winners from last year's tournament returned and all carried outstanding records.

GIBSON'S FIRST MATCH was against Larry Colvin from Chicago. The young Antioch star won easily, 15-3, and then faced Jerry Kelly of Oak Lawn.

Kelly, who wound up winning the championship, pinned Gibson, but then Gibson came back with three fine matches in a row.

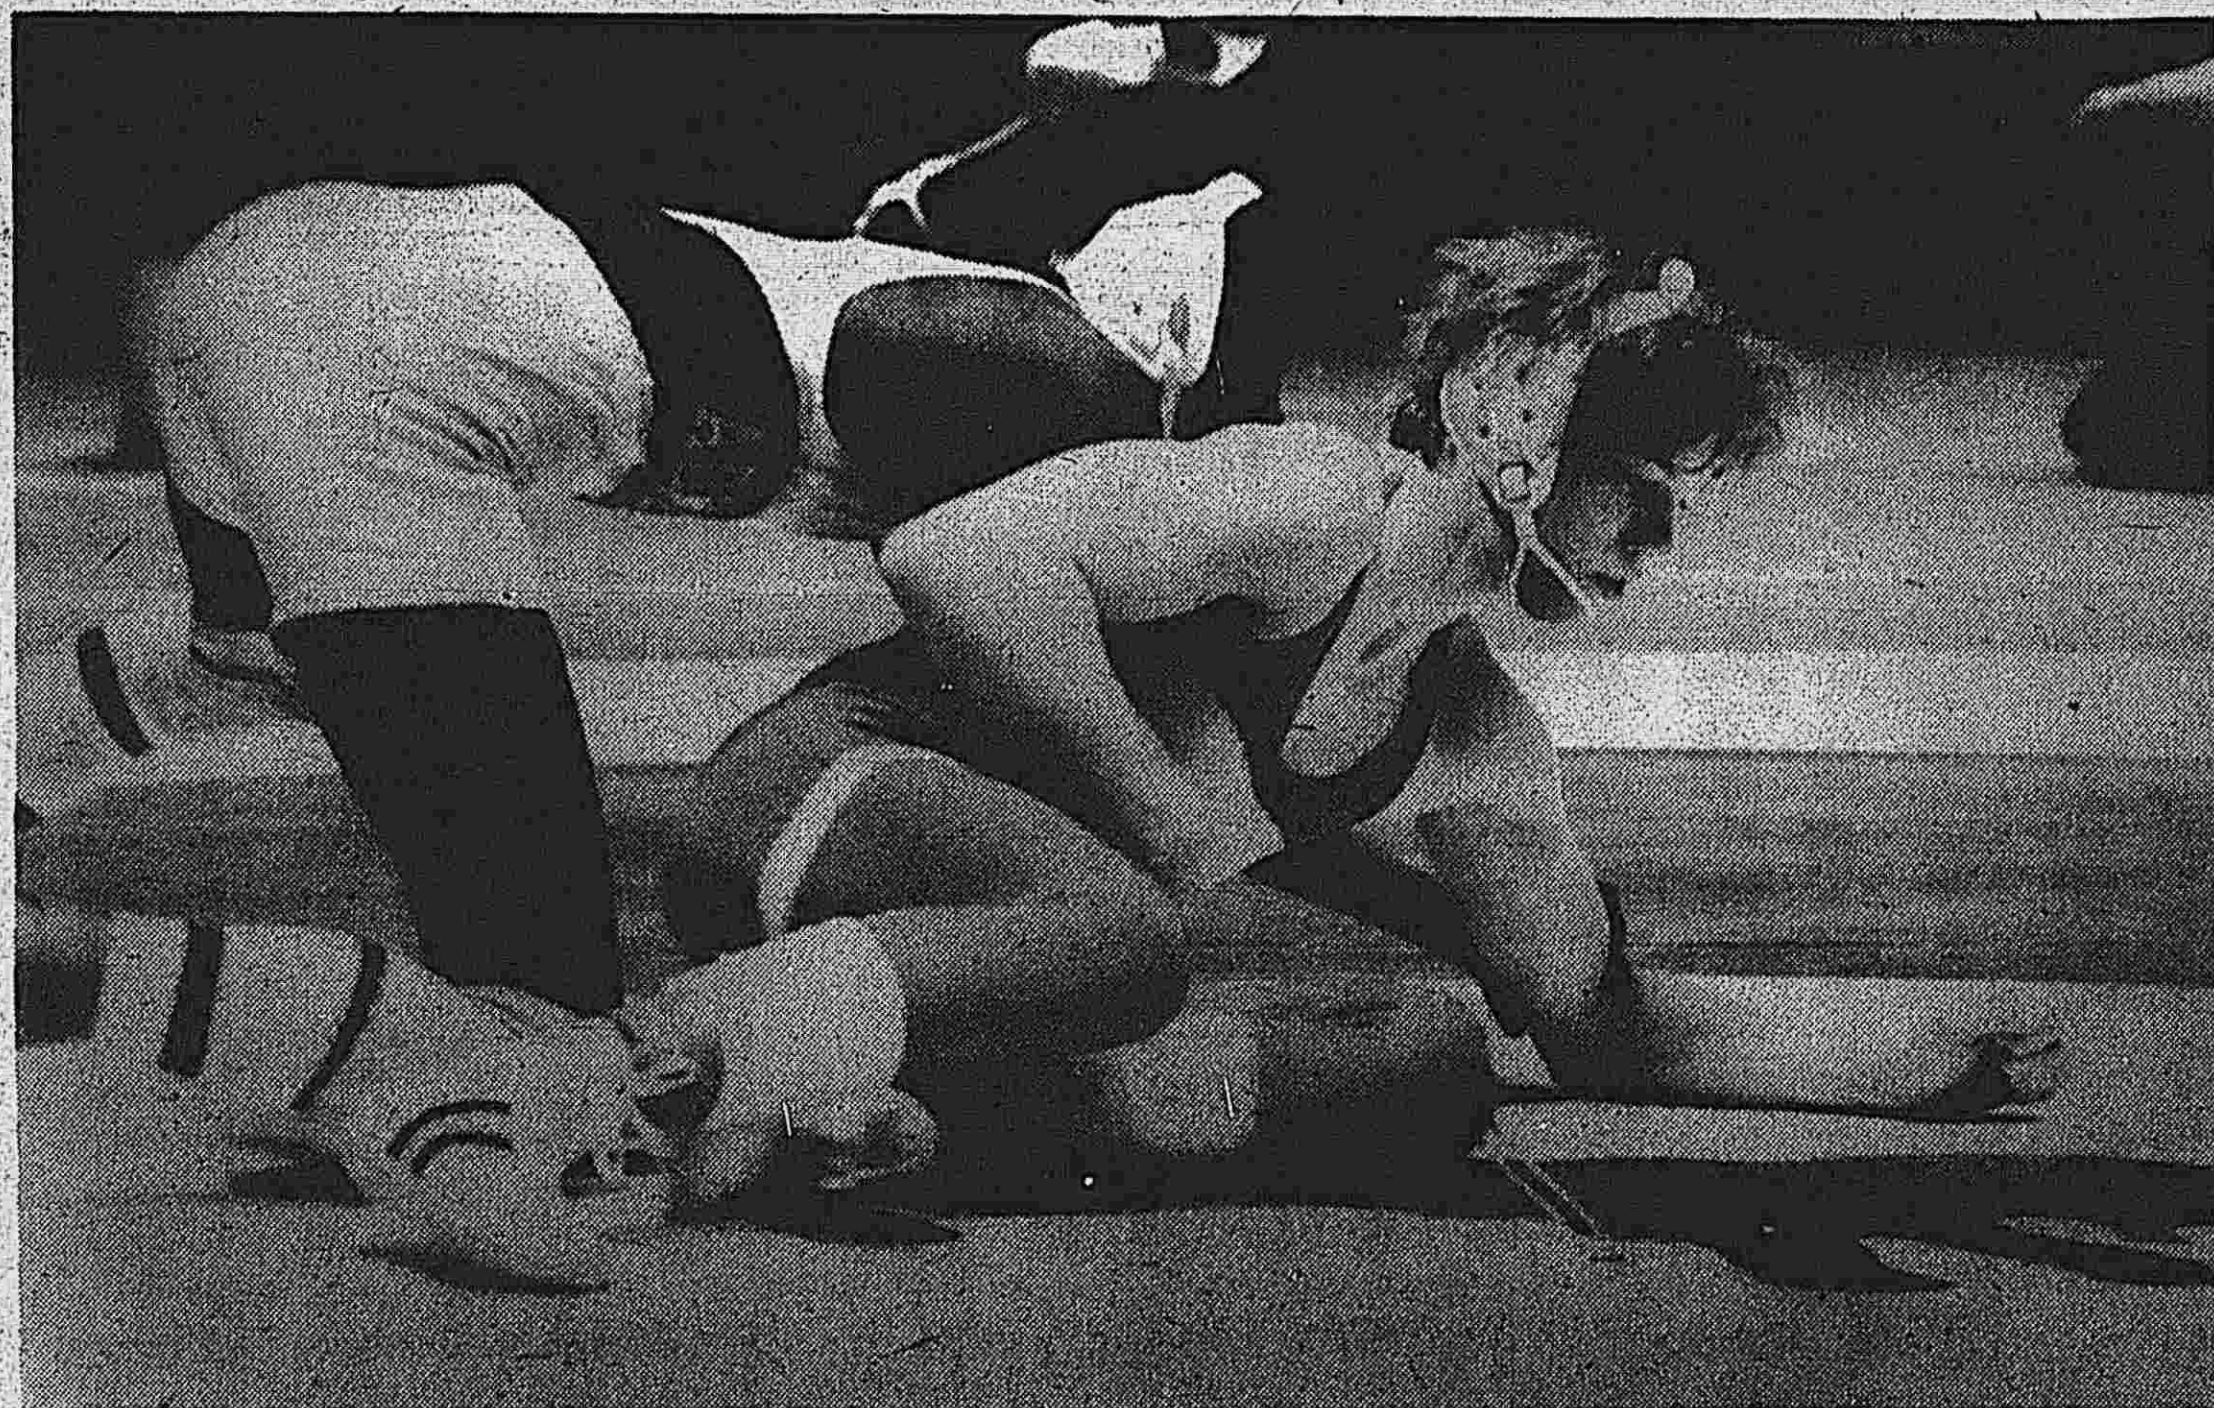

He defeated his succeeding opponents by scores 15-7, 12-6 and 6-3.

The 12-6 win was over Scott Johnson of LaGrange, who had beaten Gibson 4-3 last year. The 6-3 decision was over Lee Goldsmith of New Trier West, who had won the state title at 105 pounds last year. By upsetting Goldsmith, Gibson had wrestled his way back to a shot at third place.

LAST SATURDAY NIGHT, despite bad weather, more than 10,000 fans gathered at the University of Illinois assembly hall. Gibson faced Juan Causey of Chicago Heights, a senior who came into the state meet with a 39-0 record before losing to Kelly.

Gibson controlled Causey throughout the match and trailed by only 1-0 when Causey caught him with a pin hold in the last minute of their bout.

Gibson finished the season with a 35-6-1 record and has two years to improve on that splendid mark.

Final youth tourney nears

By LOIS HARTMAN

The last tournament of the year for the youth bowlers at Antioch Bowl will be held Saturday and Sunday, Mar. 19 and 20. This is a singles handicap tournament with each bowler rolling three games. A bowler must be a member of a 1976-77 organized youth league and must bowl the preliminary round in the home establishment of his or her league.

The bowlers must have bowled at least 21 games as of Saturday, Mar. 5 and can enter only once in this tournament. The top bowler in each division and category will advance to the affiliate finals; one bowler is allowed for every five additional bowlers entered in a division and category.

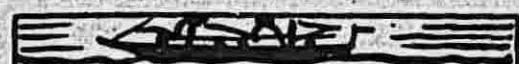

Winners in the affiliate round will advance to the state finals round at Ford City Bowling Center, Chicago, on June 18.

YOUTH BOWLERS receiving patch awards recently at Antioch Bowl were: Greg Lipske, John Ruggles, Ann Ivy, John Ferreri, Margaret Ivy (who also received a trophy from the YBA Association), Tom Miller and Jeff Miller.

OFFICIAL RESULTS for the YBA Team Tournament of Champions conducted at Richton Park on Jan. 15 are in. Eighty teams advanced from the affiliate rounds to the state tournament of Champions.

In the prep boys division, Hahn Jewelers placed fourth out of 14. Cunningham Cartage placed sixth of 14 in the prep girls division. In the junior boys division, 14 teams entered with Antioch Reporter placing ninth.

The first admiral of the U.S. Navy was David S. Farragut, who was appointed in 1866.

Sequoits play in regional tonight

Finals are Friday night

The Antioch High School basketball court will be the scene of heated competition this week as the Sequoits play host to a regional tournament.

Actually, the battling began last night (Tuesday) at 7:30 o'clock when Mundelein (14-11) opened the tourney against Grayslake (8-15).

Because of its record, Mundelein went in as the tournament favorite.

Tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30, Antioch (10-15) plays Round Lake (6-17).

The winners of those first two games will return Friday night, 7:30, to play for the regional championship.

Mundelein was expected to win the Tuesday game and Antioch is a slight favorite over Round Lake tonight.

Antioch fans are hoping their heroes will be able to upset Mundelein's Mustangs if it turns out that those two teams meet in Friday's finals.

Winner of the Antioch regional will advance to a sectional tournament at Rockford-Harlem next week.

Andrews and Dubek win all-conference honors

Brian Andrews

Two of Antioch High School's basketball players were unanimous selections to the all-conference team selected by coaches last Saturday.

They were Brian Andrews and Bill Dubek, both juniors who will be back next year when Antioch hopes to be a contender for the championship.

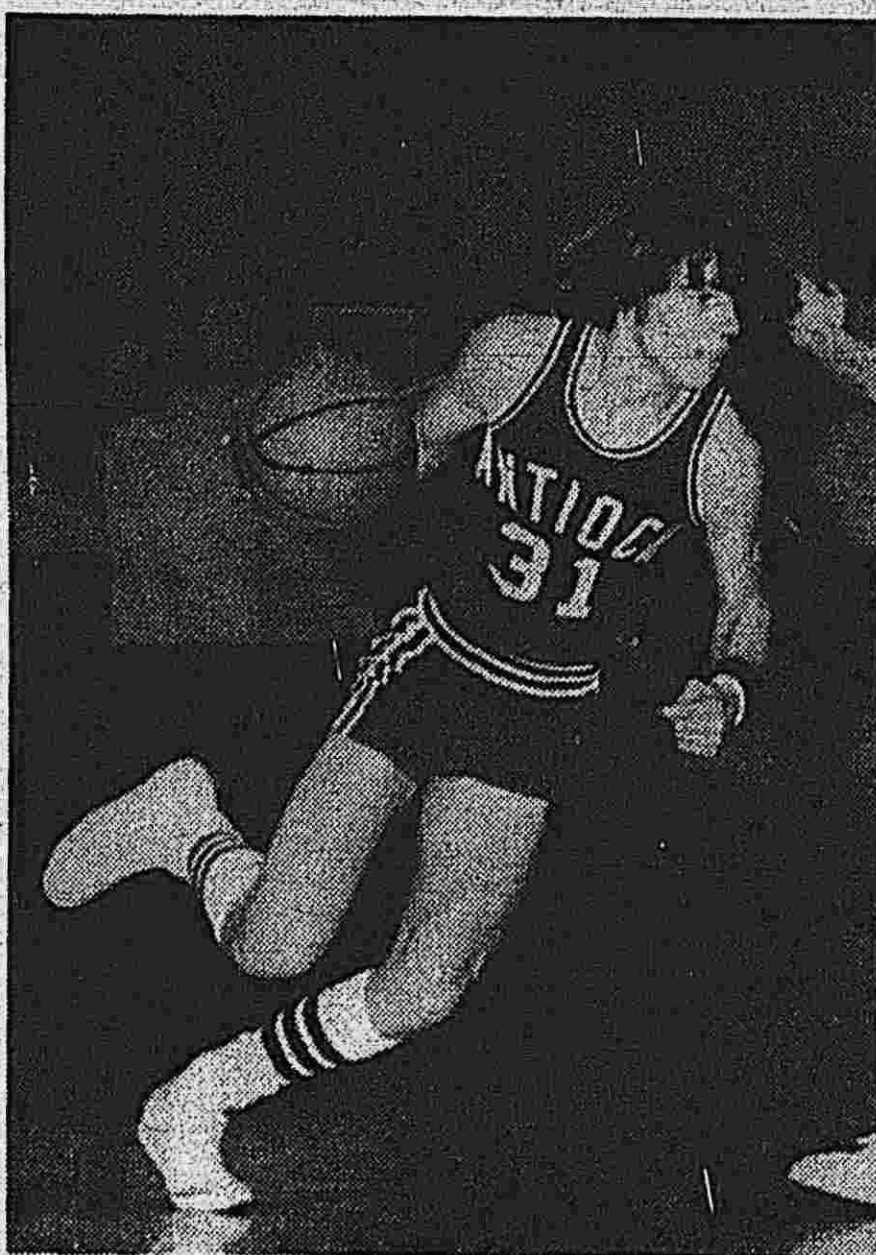

A 12-player all-star squad was picked by the coaches of the northern division of the Northwest Suburban Conference.

In addition to Andrews and Dubek, the stars included four members of Grant's championship team: Kerry Kelly, Jim Strand, Bob Soderman and Mike Solheim.

KELLY LED THE DIVISION in scoring with an average of 17.6 points a game. Dubek averaged 14 points while Andrews averaged about 11.

Other members of the all-star squad were Tom Novak of Grayslake, Lee Neer of Round Lake, Keith Halvorsen and Dave Kolar of Warren, and Kyle Horner and Ron Genot of Woodstock.

WARREN PLACED SECOND in the six-team league and Antioch's junior-packed lineup was third. Next November most forecasters will pick Antioch as one of the conference favorites because Andrews, Dubek and several players of similar caliber will be coming back as seniors.

Antioch frosh, soph cagers impressive

Antioch's freshmen "A" team split in its last two games, downing league-leader Grant 49-44 and then losing a heartbreaker at Woodstock 52-49 in overtime.

The "A" team record is 13-8 overall and 11-5 in the conference.

Antioch's sophomore team ended its season last Friday with an impressive 75-45 win over Woodstock's sophs.

Against Grant, the freshman Sequoits played an outstanding first half as they jumped to a 34-15 lead. Mike Anderson, Kurt Selak and Todd Coulter each scored eight points in the half and Jim Wiese added six.

IN THE SECOND HALF Grant applied a half-court trap and made a run at the home team but Antioch failed to crack. Overall Antioch shot a sizzling 60 percent from the field and Grant shot 50 percent. It was the first loss for Grant's frosh in 15 conference games.

As an indication of the super team play by the Sequoits, they recorded 15 assists, seven by Coulter and five by Anderson. The zone press caused Grant to turn over the ball 17 times. Coulter ended up with 13 points and Anderson and Selak each had 10.

COACH NORM HAHN considered the first two quarters as "near perfect basketball." He said: "It was some of the best play I have ever had a team show in my 10 years of coaching."

At Woodstock poor rebounding and officiating combined to stop the Antioch win streak at six. Woodstock converted several rebounds into baskets and also made 20 of 36 free throws as the officials whistled the Sequoits for 24 fouls. Denis Flaschner led Antioch scoring with 13 points and 10 rebounds. Selak had 12 points and Coulter had 11. Jim Wiese grabbed 8 rebounds to help the cause.

THE ANTIOCH "B" TEAM also split its last two games, losing to Grant 51-41 and downing the Woodstock Blue Streaks 58-39. The "B" team record is a fine 13-4 overall and 12-3 in conference play.

Against Grant, Jim Wilson led in scoring with 13 points and Mike O'Brien and Ron Nauman each added 8. At Woodstock, Wilson again was the leading scorer with 17 and Greg Stevens shipped in 12 and Jeff Crichton 9.

Kathy Toft wins

Fans who want to enter this week's Antioch News basketball contest must hurry.

The deadline for entries is 7:30 p.m. today (Wednesday) since the "game of the week" is tonight's clash with Round Lake in the regional tournament.

The entry blank is on page 17.

LAST WEEK, ANTIOCH lost to Woodstock by three points. Winner of the contest was no newcomer to the victory circle. Once again, it was Kathy Toft, who picked Woodstock to win by five points. (Most fans picked Antioch to win.)

Kathy will receive a $15 gift certificate from Lyons-Ryan Ford-Mercury.

Jayce Redmer also picked Woodstock by five points, but Kathy came closest in the tie-breaker, last Friday's sophomore game.

JAYCE WILL RECEIVE a $10 guest certificate from Maggie and Harry's Thompson's Bar and Restaurant, on Antioch's Main St.

Third prize, a $5 gift certificate from A&B Printing Service, was won by David Hanson of 227 Maplewood, Antioch. He picked Woodstock to beat Antioch by eight points.

FANCY THAT!

The largest vocabulary of any language is English, which contains about 490,000 words, though it is doubtful if any one individual uses more than 60,000!

The largest seamless plastic pipe ever produced is a 63-inch-wide pipe made from Hostalen, a rigid high density polyethylene developed by Hoechst (pronounced Herkst), a worldwide company which spends nearly $400 million a year on research to raise our standard of living. The pipe can be used to protect our environment by conveying industrial waste. The U.S. member of this research giant is American Hoechst Corporation, which produces Foster Grant sunglasses.
